

AFRICAN WOMAN'S HOME

they say. Try. But you must not say anything or I will let me help you in case you are here at all. Remember she says to go to the house where it died and if it died now it would be better than never. It was very good. I am sorry. "I never gave that clause of my father's will a thought until—" he had no time to blunder into a confession of

HEART'S BOSTON AMERICAN PATTERNS
LITTLE BOY'S Russian Dress

No. 6378—This little boy's new Russian costume maintains its supremacy among modes for the chap who still wears dresses. The design with its side closing is very pretty and something entirely new. The fulness of the skirt is supplied by tucks, which are attached to the waist through-out. The model is a good one in being buttoned and worn as a frock with bloomers. There are endless numbers of ways of producing the little boy's clothes without much expense. The construction is so near common and so very suitable kinds of material can be purchased at reasonable cost for a small outfit. Then, too, these garments are easily made from three or four, six or eight yards.

HEART'S BOSTON AMERICAN will mail pattern upon receipt of 10 cents to cover cost of handling, etc.

All orders should be addressed to HEART'S BOSTON AMERICAN PATTERN DEPT., P. O. Box 239, Boston, Mass.

NO. 6378.
Name.....
Address.....

THE

look at me for half a dozen years or more and have a change of mind. I don't know how to get him in the house? I read all about it in the papers and I wondered—I saw a little newspaper—I read it with the paper—the Times—he told me, you know." His attention had been kindly.

"Has He, Father?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

From the NEW YORK AMERICAN of Aug. 27

THIS IS A GAIN GREATER THAN THE ACTUAL CIRCULATION OF ANY NEWS.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

40 AND 52 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, AUGUST 29, 1904

That was his practical viewpoint. If the Republicans win he must still go on monotonously day after day, shaving away the growth of the night before. And if the Democrats win, still he must go on shaving.

If the managers of the Democratic party would drum into the heads of citizens the fact that the right kind of government means material as well as moral prosperity, there would be much more political excitement early in the campaign.

Human beings ought to be interested in the higher abstract questions of liberty, justice, etc. They will be interested, and exclusively interested, in such questions some of these days. But, while millions of them are uncertain as to how they shall pay their rent, while many other millions worry about their future, for one reason or another, practical

But, as things are managed now, every human being in the United States pays about twenty dollars more than the proper amount.

The trouble is that taking money by taxation is a painless operation, and even the most intelligent barber does not notice it.

If our able friend, Saracena, knew that the election of one candidate or the other would add a hundred and fifty dollars to his rent, he and many other of us practical Americans, if similarly situated, would be

These things should be made clear by the Democratic management to the ordinary citizen.

Keep telling the voters the practical meaning of your party.
Tell them that an income tax would mean better times for the man of small income, fairer times for the man of big income—and keep on telling them that the Democratic party stands and always will stand for an income tax.

Don't climb up in the clouds and talk generalities to a lot of men, leaving them to reflect that they have "got to go on shaving, anyhow." Their minds are practical: give them practical talks.

Explain that your Democratic plan is to give better results to the men that work, better results to the business man, the barber, to all that are interested in better times for the majority.

We wish particularly to call the attention

In Chicago and Boston, the Hearst papers are first, the others nowhere.

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY JOURNAL-AMERICAN-EXAMINER.

HE DOES NOT SEE THE MERITS OF A FAST BOAT

"but you are the diurnal wisdom, but spiel on. What sort of a wife does the New York woman make?"

"If I wanted a wife who would look

"She recognizes escaping steam when she hears it."